

GRAND JURY TO MAKE INQUIRY

Will Have Witnesses Examined in Connection With Alleged Sale of Whiskey at Pocahontas.

The following inquiry was addressed to Mr. J. W. Harman, Commonwealth's Attorney of Tazewell, and his reply thereto follows below:

Tazewell, Va., July 17, 1916

Mr. J. W. Harman,
Commonwealth's Attorney,
Tazewell, Virginia.

Dear Sir:

Reports from both public and private sources, which we have good reason to believe are creditable, are to the effect, that the prohibition law of the State is openly, flagrantly and defiantly violated and ignored in the town of Pocahontas and vicinity. Have you, as State's Attorney, jurisdiction, and if so, have you investigated these charges and reports of the violation of the prohibition law, and if so, what were your findings? If these violators of the law have not been called to answer, why haven't they? As a private citizen of this county, a taxpayer and a voter, we are sure you will admit that we have the right to an answer to these questions in the interest of good government.

Should you see fit to reply, the same will be published in the columns of the Clinch Valley News. Yours very truly,

EDITOR C. V. NEWS.

Mr. Harman's Reply.

Mr. Editor: In reply to your inquiry, I beg to advise that the conditions at Pocahontas will be investigated by the Grand Jury on August 28th. I have the names of several persons who will be summoned as witnesses in this investigation, and the names of others will be added to the list from time to time until that date.

Justices of the Peace and the Circuit Court have concurrent jurisdiction of violations of the prohibition laws, although the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court is very much hampered on account of the fact that the grand jury is in session only four times during the year, and even when in session it is practically impossible to thoroughly investigate illegal traffic in liquor, especially at points remote from the county seat. When an investigation is started it naturally becomes necessary to send for additional witnesses from time to time as their connection with the matter is shown, and when the investigation is conducted by the grand jury twenty-five miles from the place under investigation, it is with much difficulty, expense and delay that the attendance of the new witnesses is secured, and the usual result is that the grand jury is discharged without a thorough and complete investigation.

Section 3556 of the Code of Virginia provides that whenever a justice of the peace shall "suspect" that any law punishable otherwise than by fine has been violated (and this includes the Byrd law), it shall be his duty to issue a summons for witnesses, and examine them under oath in regard thereto, and if it appears that such law has been violated he shall issue a warrant for the guilty person and try him. This section of the Code gives to Justices of the Peace as full and complete power as is vested in the grand jury. Under this section of the Code a justice of the peace residing in the town of Pocahontas is under the obligation to hold an investigation of the conditions existing in and around said town. It is so much better for a justice of the peace to hold the investigation where the witnesses live and as the names of new witnesses are ascertained, he can have them brought before him with conference and dispatch. In fact, a justice can make a more complete investigation in one or two days than a grand jury can in a week, and with very little inconvenience and expense.

A justice of the peace should start an investigation promptly whenever he "suspects" a violation of the prohibition laws and not wait for three months for a grand jury to be impaneled. Such a delay and neglect of duty would give violators of the law ample time to do a wholesale business and escape the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court before the time arrives for a grand jury to be impaneled.

The mayor and each member of the council of the town of Pocahontas are ex officio justices of the peace, and they, as well as police officers, are charged with the duty of enforcing the prohibition laws. Officers failing to perform their duties are subject to be removed from office under the recent Ouster Law, on sworn complaint to the Circuit Court by any person, corporation or organization.

The only effective way to break up misdemeanor violations is by the prompt action of the local officers.

The Police Justice informs me he is doing his best to put a stop to violations there of the prohibition laws. Some persons have been convicted by him, others are now under arrest, and warrants for others are about ready to be issued, pursuant to an investigation by him. I do not know what support the police justice is receiving from the people of the town. I have been urging the local officers to do their full duty in this matter, and I will aid them all I can through the grand jury, but as stated above the principle work should be done by the local authorities. It now appears that the prospect is good for a vigorous prosecution of the moonshiners in and around Pocahontas, and it is to be hoped that the people of the town will give their Police Justice their undivided support in this matter.

In answering your inquiry I have taken occasion to go into the legal situation at some length in order that the people of the county may know what to expect of the local officers in each county.

Respectfully,
JAMES W. HARMAN,
Commonwealth's Attorney.

THE RECENT STORM.

From recent reports received from different parts of this county, considerable damage was wrought by the recent storm, which swept all the eastern and southwestern sections of the county, doing great damage along the larger streams.

In this county trees were uprooted, corn was blown down and in some cases broken off. Apples were blown down in great quantities, as also were grapes. In some localities, meadows were swept clean of hay just mowed, wheat shocks blown down and damage to the wheat. The Clinch was high and in some places out of its banks, but so far as reported no very considerable damage was done. In Burke's Garden the big mill dam at John P. Gogge's mill was injured, a part of the bank giving away on one end.

This county came out remarkably well when compared with other sections of the south and southwest. The railroad and county bridges along the New River and in Tennessee and in North Carolina, as well as the farms, were seriously injured. The Ohio river is reported as being dangerously high.

In certain portions of the county the dirt roads were washed out, but no damage has been reported to the new roads.

Not since 1878 have the waters been as high as they were last week, in certain sections of the southwest.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The North Tazewell Ladies Missionary Society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Peery, with the following members present: Mrs. Mary O'Keefe, Mrs. M. A. Peery, Mrs. Henry Peery, Mrs. Marsh Kiser, Mrs. A. G. Kiser, Mrs. Harve Yates, Mrs. D. P. Hurley, Mrs. Jack Whitley, Mrs. John Hopkins, Miss Lydie McCall, Visitors: Miss Jessie Groseclose, of Lexington, Va., Miss Besie Peery, of Cedar Bluff, Mrs. George McCall, of Raven. After an interesting program, delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses.

"MOLLIE HOPPER" CAMPING PARTY.

The camping party to the "Mollie Hopper" Hole this year will be composed of the following young ladies and gentlemen: Miss Mamie St. Clair, chaperon; Misses Katherine St. Clair, Mary Preston, Maria St. Clair, Mary Moore, Mary Harman, Katherine Hall, Marie McNulty.

Messrs. Graham Preston, Henry Preston, Houston St. Clair, Billy Coatsworth, Charles St. Clair, Rufus Brittain, Charles Pepper Gillespie, Edward Jackson, Dr. Henry T. Haley, K. C. (Prince of Peace) Patti, Robert Brown, Thomas and Cecil Martin.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. J. D. Harrison. There was a full attendance and matters of importance were discussed. The ladies were, as a rule, in a fine humor, until the dates of the big convention, which meets here in September, came up for discussion. It appears that the date for the county Fair and the State convention of the W. C. T. U. conflict, both coming on the same date exactly. This conflict, the ladies brought out, was due to the Fair Association changing its date, so as not to conflict with the Graham-Bluefield Fair. The W. C. T. U. date was set first, some months ago, and the ladies did not think it desirable the thing for the Fair people to take their date.

The capacity of the town and community will be taxed to take care of either of these meetings, coming at different times, but with both at the same time, well, it just couldn't be done.

As many as 200 delegates and visitors are expected here from the out-county, to be in the town four or five days, and something will have to be done. And so, the ladies here have taken steps, looking to a change of date for the W. C. T. U. so as not to conflict.

The President, Mrs. Hoge, has been written to in regard to the matter, and so it will rest until she is heard from.

Renting the Opera House.

Another question discussed was a place for holding the meetings of the convention. It is the opinion of the ladies that no building in town is large enough to accommodate the convention audiences, particularly at night, except the new opera house, and it is understood that negotiations are pending looking to securing the building.

It should be stated, as was suggested, that when the Tazewell Fair people changed their date they did so without thinking of the conflict of dates.

GILLESPIE-ST. CLAIR.

Mr. Roy R. St. Clair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex St. Clair, and Mrs. Kate Peery Gillespie, were quietly married Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kate Peery, grandmother of the bride. Rev. R. B. Platt, pastor of the Methodist church officiated.

The wedding was quietly solemnized only a few of the close friends of the contracting parties being present. After the wedding they left on No. 6 for a bridal tour of the East. Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair are expected to return in a few weeks, and will make their home in Bluefield, Mr. St. Clair having made his home in that city for a number of years as pharmacist for the White Drug Co.

CARRINGTON WARREN GRADUATES.

Carrington Warren, son of Beverly Warren, a well known and worthy colored man of this town, graduated with honor from the Pottsville, Pa., High School this spring. Prof. W. W. Rupert, principal, says that Carrington "graduated with honor, and has been a faithful and very successful student," and commends him highly to any school wanting "an able earnest and eminently trustworthy young man for the teacher's chair."

The News extends congratulations to this worthy colored family.

USERS OF THE
'PHONES TESTIFY

Business and Professional Men Were Asked as to The Service, And They Make Plain Replies.

The News has taken the trouble of getting an expression from the business men of this town who have telephones as to the service they are receiving. The following are the replies given to the question, "Is your telephone service satisfactory?"

Tazewell National Bank: "Service reasonably satisfactory."

C. T. Peery & Son: "It's better than it was."

Harrison, Barnes & Co.: "Service is all right."

Hawkins' Pharmacy: "Better than formerly."

John E. Jackson: "Have had no trouble for the past week."

Dr. P. D. Johnston: "Telephone service rotten. Statements to the contrary are all lies."

Bank of Clinch Valley: "Telephone service satisfactory NOW."

G. M. St. Clair: "Reasonably satisfactory."

Jeff Ward: "It has not been; better now than usual."

H. P. Brittain, County Treasurer: "Very satisfactory. But I think as a public utility, the Court House should not be required to pay telephone rent in view of the privileges granted the phone company on the public highways of the county. Also the county should be made a unit of service, and subscribers in the county should not be required to pay toll within the county, and a minimum rental should be established which would justify such phone service."

G. A. Martin, County Road Engineer: "No complaints to make."

Chapman, Peery & Buchanan: "Reasonably satisfactory."

T. C. Bowen: "When Miss Sallie is at the switchboard the service could not be better."

Greener & Gillespie: "Service better now."

Harman & Pobs: "We are not making public our complaints."

R. O. Crockett: "Nothing to say."

H. L. Spratt: "Not satisfactory."

M. J. Hankins: "It is now."

W. E. Peery: "It has not been, except when Miss Sallie is at the switchboard."

R. C. Chapman: "Not entirely."

C. V. Insurance Agency: "When Miss Sallie is at the switchboard no complaint to make."

J. S. Bottimore: "Our service is not good."

C. R. Brown, (a stockholder of the Bluefield Telephone Co.): "My service is very unsatisfactory, except when Miss Sallie is at the switchboard."

W. I. Painter: "Service unsatisfactory."

H. W. Pobs: "Service is better than it used to be."

J. A. Greener: "Service unsatisfactory."

W. F. Harman: "Service unsatisfactory."

Dr. R. P. Copenhaver: "For last two months service has been rotten, is better since investigation."

Dr. M. B. Crockett: "Service is now better."

Tazewell Republican: "I have had no trouble lately."

MISS SALLIE MCCLINTOCK'S HOURS IN CENTRAL.

Upon inquiry it is learned that "Miss Sallie," chief operator in the central office here, is on duty as follows:

From 9 to 11 both operators, Miss Sallie and Miss Whitaker are on duty, one at each switchboard. From 12 M to 5 p. m. Miss Sallie is in charge. From 5 to 7 M. Miss Whitaker. From 7 p. m. to 7 a. m., Lawrence Painter is in charge.

So it appears that of the ten hour day Miss Sallie is in charge for seven hours, nearly all day, during which time nine-tenths of the business of the office is done.

IMPORTANT LETTER LOST.

One day last week a letter addressed to Mr. J. L. Hardin, Treasurer of Emory and Henry College, was placed between Main Street and the pasture field of A. Z. Litz by one of the cowboys. Finder please return to this office or to Geo. W. Patton and receive reward.

The Community Library Idea is Carried Out in Burke's Garden

Burke's Garden, Va., July 20.

For several months there has been in process of consummation the founding of a community library in Burke's Garden. This community library idea is so broad in its conception and so fascinatingly interesting in its possibilities that your correspondent presumes to present it not only as a new item for your many readers who have a personal interest in the unique little community of Burke's Garden, but as an idea of general interest because any village or town community may easily adopt and adapt the idea for itself. The world knows about public libraries of the Carnegie type, machine made, for the embellishment of the name of a lordly and munificent public benefactor (?), and everybody is familiar with libraries of the club type, which are intended primarily for the culture or entertainment of a select circle, and everybody should be familiar with the public library of the strictly educational type founded and maintained by public funds under the direction of State or Federal regulation. But the library being founded in Burke's Garden is unique in that it is being founded by everybody for everybody. Almost every family in the community has contributed and the interest is general enough to almost warrant the hope that this library idea may furnish an example of real community solidarity. Most of us, perhaps, have a rather hazy notion of that much-used phrase, "community solidarity," but all of us know the thing it intends to express, a common and universal interest in the same thing expressed in a close and sympathetic co-operation in bringing that thing to pass, a sub-body regularly called proceed to a permanent organization for the further promotion and management of this institution, by electing or appointing the following officials:

First, A Board of Trustees of three persons, in whom shall rest the title to the property, in trust for the community, according to the usual duties and functions of Trustees.

Second, A Librarian, who shall have the privilege of selecting as many assistants as may seem necessary, whose duties shall be that of custodian of the books and furniture, to keep all records of books and periodicals taken from the library, to manage the conduct of the reading room feature, both the loan and the reading room features to be conducted according to the usual approved rules and all regulations of public libraries. The function of the Librarian should by inference extend to the arousing of interest in the work of the institution and to directing as far as possible especially the young in the choice of books to read.

Third, A Finance and Purchasing Board of three whose function shall be to raise funds and make such purchases as they may deem wise acting with Fourth, A Censoring Board, to be elected from the Mothers of the community whose function shall be to examine and approve or disapprove of all books suggested or requested to be purchased, anyone in the community being free to make such suggestion or request, and no book shall be purchased or admitted to the library unless approved by the two last mentioned boards.

This preamble to the resolution to follow is intended to recite the origin and conception of a "community library" idea for Burke's Garden and to intimate the appealing possibilities of such an institution.

In this connection recognition should first be given to the far-sighted public spirit and well known generosity of Mr. R. M. Lawson, because for years he has had in mind the founding of at least an agricultural library of such books of reference as would conduce to the more rapid progress of the community in farming and stock-raising and because he has now consummated that purpose by a generous foundation subscription. Recognition should also be given to the record to Miss Garnett Brooke Lawson, who has with characteristic enthusiasm crystallized her father's idea and promoted the movement to its present stage, where it may be regarded as a permanent educational institution to be elaborated and enlarged with the growing horizon of community progress.

Inasmuch, then, as the "community library" idea has already had its inception and an auspicious foundation fund, cheerfully and quickly contributed. First, by the young people, second by the heads of families, and third by certain interested individuals who have privately given handsome donations, more of which are easily available, if merit and need should appeal.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that this all better quit "fighting" and get to reading and thinking. But enough of philosophizing. This communication is meant to follow up an announcement made last week in this paper of the actual progress realized in the making of this library. In that announcement Miss Lawson, whose characteristic enthusiasm has so vigorously promoted the scheme, gives her report as acting secretary and treasurer.

From that report it will be seen that a nice little sum of $325.00 has already been collected and it may be added that another $100.00 has been subscribed and will be collected at once. The attractive room in the pretty new school building, kindly placed at the disposal of the community by the school authorities, has been tastefully furnished and more than 225 books have already been shelved in the new unit cases. With a fund of almost $500 put into a nicely furnished room and some 600 books to start with, the material side of the idea may be said to have passed the experimental stage. The library itself is a reality. But there are problems yet to face before the dreams of the leaders will come true. There are problems of selection, problems of administration, and most acute of all, the problem of interesting the entire community in the reading of the books really worth while. The solution of some of these problems has been sought in the following plan of administration, enacted in the form of a resolution, at a recent regularly announced public meeting:

PANORAMIC VIEW OF BEAUTIFUL BURKE'S GARDEN.

Be it further resolved, that the name of the library shall be Burke's Garden Library, and that all officials shall be elected for a term of one year from a date to be determined on and which date shall be known as Library Day.

In pursuance of this action there were named as the officials under the plan:

Board of Trustees—The Local School Board.

As Librarian, Mrs. J. B. Meek.

As Finance and Purchasing Committee, A. S. Greener, Miss Garnett Lawson, Geo. H. Moss.

As Mothers' Censoring Board, Mrs. R. S. Moss, Mrs. W. J. Hoge, Mrs. C. J. Moss, Mrs. M. Cassell, Mrs. George W. Moss. As was contemplated in the resolutions, other mothers will be asked to read and express an opinion as to the desirability of certain books and periodicals.

The Assistant Librarians will be announced on the opening day, soon to be held, when a reception will be given, and when everybody will be invited, and when the purposes and privileges of the library will be fully explained. Briefly, the library will be conducted after the usual manner of public libraries. There will be the loan feature and the reading-room feature, both conducted according to tried and approved rules. EXPED.

DR. WASHINGTON
FINE PREACHER

Sermons By Colored Minister Were Highly Praised—Mayor's Welcome Address Pleases Visitors.

The Bluefield District conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, colored, in its recent session of several days in this town, was a success from the beginning. There were between 75 and 100 delegates, ministers and visitors and the conference was well taken care of by the colored people. The entire assemblage was composed of quiet, earnest, well-dressed people. The ministers made a fine impression wherever heard.

The culminating events of the conference occurred on Sunday with two sermons—one in the court house, and one in the Main Street Methodist church, (white), on Sunday night, he gave several sermons at the colored church during the day.

Rev. Mr. Thomas at the Court House. There was much interest taken in the service in the Court House on Sunday morning, held chiefly for the white people, who occupied nearly all of the space in the large room.

The song service was in charge of T. B. Warren, assisted by a number of efficient singers, and every song was well rendered and heartily enjoyed.

Rev. Mr. Thomas, the preacher, announced as his text, "If any man will come after me let him deny himself, take up his cross daily and follow me." No newspaper report can do full justice to the sermon. For an hour the audience composed largely of the best white people of the community, gave the most earnest attention to the simple presentation of the gospel.

"He preached about the gospel, instead of preaching about the gospel, is the way one hearer expressed it."

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Pickett, D. D., preached to a goodly sized audience in the Court House and the Rev. Mr. Thomas preached in the Main Street Methodist church.

On Monday all the ministers left for their homes.

During the conference about $150 was raised in cash, the white people giving between $40 and $50 of the amount.

A feature of the service in the colored church at the opening of the session was the address of welcome by Mayor H. R. Hawthorne, which the colored people greatly appreciated.

OPERA HOUSE
NOW COMPLETED

Tazewell Can Now Boast of a Modern And Up-To-Date Show House—First Performance Next Wednesday.

The new theater will open Wednesday, July 26th, with two performances, a matinee beginning at 2:30 p. m. and a night show beginning promptly at 8:15.

The subject at both performances will be "The Eternal City," a wonderful photoplay in eight reels, of which the famous actress, Pauline Frederick, is the star. "The Eternal City" is presented by the "Famous Players' Exchange" and was recommended by them as being the strongest available feature in their list of productions. A more spectacular and absorbing photoplay will perhaps never be seen in the new theater. Those who fail to see this movie at the afternoon or night performance, will miss an opportunity that may not again be offered at Tazewell. For the matinee, the prices will be adults, 15c; children, 5c; for the evening performance, adults, 20c; children 10c. The scale of prices is exceedingly low for this production. Watch for the lobby display.

The management of the new theater has written the Pathe Exchange, and the Vitaphone-Lubin-Selig-Essanay Co. to recommend and book the best features they have to offer for Thursday and Saturday. The program for these days will be announced later.

Negotiations are under way for the use of the Chicago Tribune's great war picture Friday. This picture has been seen by more people than any other picture ever produced excepting "The Birth of a Nation." It is a genuine picture of the war at the front, photographed by the Chicago Tribune's representative with the consent of the German government.

After Saturday night, the 29th, the new theatre will be closed until after the
